

KIS Publishing has the talent and design expertise to help sell your product in the retail environment. We will meet your project objectives by providing well-designed packaging to ensure your brand is recognised above all others.

How we can help

We can provide effective and affordable point-of-purchase design services including posters, banners, signs and packaging as well as tailored products to suit your specific needs.

- Innovative and original design.
- Rigorous quality standards at a competitive price.
- Supported with exceptional personal service.
- Client consultation throughout the production process.
- Flexibility to meet your specific communication needs.
- We can help balance your demands for quality service and products at a competitive price.

Our talented team boasts award-winning writers, experienced sub-editors, innovative graphic designers, photographers and project managers who are focussed on delivering your message with a powerful impact and real results.

“KIS Publishing has produced FeelGoodFood for some time and the way they work is wonderful for a company like Western Potatoes, whose main business interest is not in publishing. It's great.

If you want a supplier who will go over and above to deliver the right product at the right price, ask KIS Publishing, I highly recommend their services.

Justin Wearne, Retail Sales and Development Manager, Western Potatoes

